If you've ever heard of Mohammadi Bros, you already know the pedigree of this GHeychak. Let's take a look at this cadillac of Gheychaks, the 2017 Mohammadi bros Instrument. This Gheychak appointments shine in pristine glory: delicately-colored Mulberry body trim rings the soundhole.
If this one were any prettier, i'd rent it out for beauty pagents rather than sell it outright--but that would be a dishonor to the voice that lurks beneath the flawless surface. One touch of the strings reveals that this gheychak have been consistently matched and sound magnificently. An anomaly, we know, not really what you expect, but where there's a will there's a Mohammadi Bros. Given that he's an absurdly talented Luthier, he was probably thinking of how to make this one sound the best.
Once plucked, you'd better hold on for the ride: the voice is ferocious, with a well-defined low-end and treble notes to put a songbird to shame. I practically guarantee that whatever tune you decide to play on this one, you'll never want to hear it from another gheychak, again.
